Heard a lot	41%
Heard some	35
Heard a little	21
Heard nothing at all	3
A LOT/SOME (NET)	76%
A LITTLE/NONE (NET)	24

Q52. Which of the following best characterizes what has been revealed about the Special Counsel's conclusions so far?

The report concluded that Donald Trump was completely exonerated of any wrongdoing	30%
The report was inconclusive about potential wrongdoing by Trump or whether he should be charged with any crimes	45
The report outlined clear wrongdoing by Donald Trump, and he should be charged with crimes	6
Don't know enough to say	18

Q53. [FORM A] Which of the following comes closer to your view about the issue of potential coordination between Donald Trump's 2016 campaign and the Russian government?

Congress should continue to investigate until all the facts are out	45%
The issue is resolved and no more investigations are needed	43
Not sure	12

Q54. [FORM B] Which of the following comes closer to your view about the issue of possible obstruction of justice by Donald Trump?

Congress should continue to investigate until all the facts are out..... 50%
 The issue is resolved and no more investigations are needed..... 40
 Not sure..... 10

Q55. Regardless of whether you fully agree with either statement, when it comes to congressional oversight and the Trump administration, which of the following concerns you more?

	Apr 19	Dec 18	Nov 18
That Trump administration officials will get away with corruption, unethical behavior or mishandling important problems.....	51%	45%	43%
That Democrats will go too far and abuse congressional oversight powers to attack the Trump administration.....	42	43	43
Neither of these is concerning.....	7	12	14

Q56. [FORM A] Even if you don't agree with either side completely, who do you find more convincing:

Those who say that the Special Counsel report specifically "does not exonerate" Trump, and it says he may have committed obstruction of justice by interfering with the investigation. Obstruction of justice is one of the things Nixon was nearly impeached for, and now it's the job of Congress to investigate and determine whether President Trump committed a crime..... 55%

Those who say the Special Counsel investigation is finished, and President Trump has been completely exonerated, with no collusion and no obstruction of justice by the president. This was an expensive, wasteful misuse of taxpayer dollars on a political witch hunt by Democrats who would rather attack the president to undo an election than get anything done or help grow the economy and create jobs..... 45

Q57. [FORM B] Even if you don't agree with either side completely, who do you find more convincing:

Those who say the Special Counsel investigation concluded Russia did work to elect Trump in 2016. There remain major outstanding questions about why Trump and so many in his inner circle lied to the American people about their contacts and business deals with prominent Russians, and why Trump has been so supportive of Russian President Vladimir Putin. Congress should keep investigating until we have the full picture. 53%

Q58. [FORM A] Even if you don't agree with either side completely, who do you find more convincing:

Those who say the Special Counsel charged 34 people and secured seven guilty pleas or convictions, including Trump's 2016 campaign chairman, who is now in prison, and two top political aides who pleaded guilty. The report specifically "does not exonerate" Trump, and the public deserves to know more about what actually happened, so Congress should keep investigating until the American people know the full story..... 54%

Q59. [FORM B] Even if you don't agree with either side completely, who do you find more convincing:

Those who say the Special Counsel investigation is only one of many mounting investigations around Trump, his administration, and his inner circle. With these other ongoing investigations by U.S. attorneys in New York and daily scandals – alleging abuses of power, self-dealing, illegal use of charity funds, and pay-to-play corruption – the American people deserve answers, so Congress should keep investigating. 56%
