Navigating The First
100 Days

Key Takeaways:

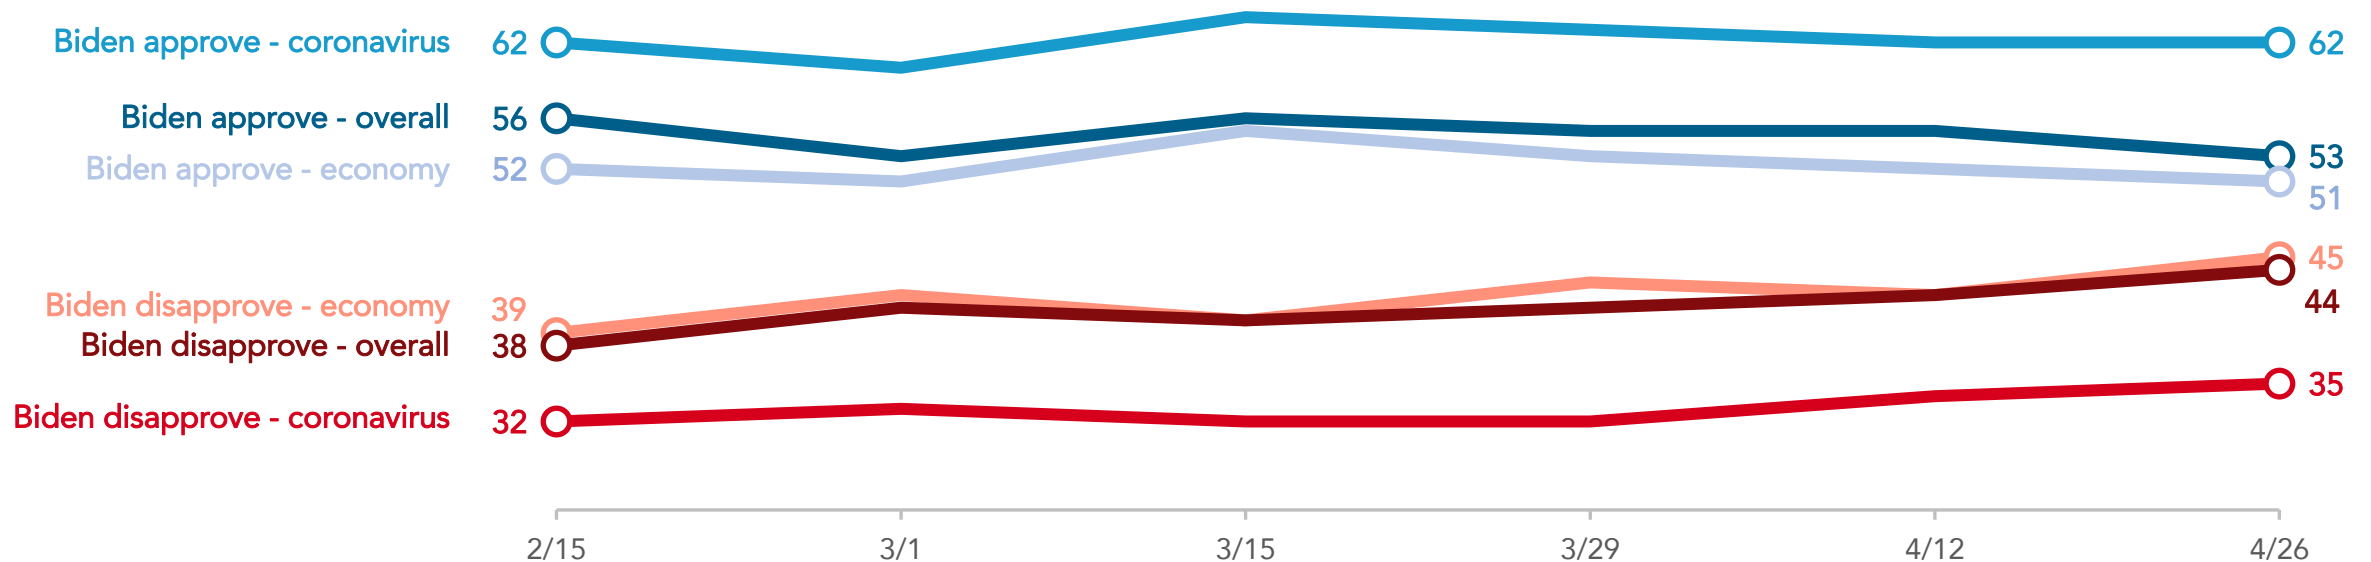

- As Biden nears his 100th day in office, he gets high marks for his handling of his job as president, as well as for his handling of the pandemic and the economy.
- Americans see Biden as prioritizing the pandemic and the economy in his first 100 days, followed by infrastructure and climate change as important tertiary focuses.
- Majorities feel Biden's policies put working and middle class people first and trust him to tell the American people the truth.

Throughout First 100 Days, Majorities Approved of Biden's Handling of the Presidency, the Pandemic, and the Economy

Since mid-February, Biden has maintained positive approval ratings across issues, including net +9 on overall job approval, net +27 approval on the pandemic, and net +6 approval on the economy.

Do you approve or disapprove of the way Joe Biden is handling:

- His job as president
- The economy
- The coronavirus pandemic

Nationwide surveys of registered voters; Each wave represents approximately 1,000 interviews taken over the prior three-five days. Latest wave conducted April 22-April 26, 2021. For more info, visit navigatorresearch.org

Coronavirus and Economy Still Seen as Biden's Top Priorities; Infrastructure Now Breaking Through as Tertiary

When asked to describe Biden's goals after his inauguration, respondents offered coronavirus first, the economy second, and a diffuse range of issues third. When asked after Biden's first 100 days, the top two priorities remain the same, while climate change is consistent as a tertiary concern, with the addition of infrastructure.

What do you think Joe Biden's top goals are for the country in the coming months and years? What do you think he will try to achieve? Feel free to list up to three items.

About Navigator

In a world where the news cycle is the length of a tweet, our leaders often lack the real-time public-sentiment analysis to shape the best approaches to talking about the issues that matter the most. Navigator is designed to act as a consistent, flexible, responsive tool to inform policy debates by conducting research and reliable guidance to inform allies, elected leaders, and the press. Navigator is a project led by pollsters from Global Strategy Group and GBAO along with an advisory committee, including: Andrea Purse, progressive strategist; Arkadi Gerney, The Hub Project; Joel Payne, The Hub Project; Christina Reynolds, EMILY's List; Delvone Michael, Working Families; Felicia Wong, Roosevelt Institute; Mike Podhorzer, AFL-CIO; Jesse Ferguson, progressive strategist; Navin Nayak, Center for American Progress Action Fund; Stephanie Valencia, EquisLabs; and Melanie Newman, Planned Parenthood Action Fund.

About the Study

Global Strategy Group conducted public opinion surveys among a sample of 989 registered voters from April 22-April 26, 2021. 101 additional interviews were conducted among Hispanic voters. 104 additional interviews were conducted among Asian American and Pacific Islander voters. 96 additional interviews were conducted among African American voters. 98 additional interviews were conducted among independent voters. The survey was conducted online, recruiting respondents from an opt-in online panel vendor. Respondents were verified against a voter file and special care was taken to ensure the demographic composition of our sample matched that of the national registered voter population across a variety of demographic variables.
