Q85A. [SPLIT A] Who do you agree with more?

Those who say Roe v. Wade established the legal right to an abortion nearly 50 years ago in this country, and this new state law in Texas - written by politicians, not doctors - undermines that decision by banning abortion after six weeks, before many women even know they are pregnant. This new law goes so far that it does not even have exceptions for cases of rape, incest or the health of the mother, putting millions of Texas women at risk 63%

Those who say that before Texas enacted this law, a child whose heart was already beating could be aborted as a form of birth control. This new law puts reasonable limits in place to protect unborn children from these painful, life-ending procedures while providing exceptions for the health of the mother. 37

Q85B. [SPLIT B] Who do you agree with more?

Those who say America was built on a foundation of laws, where citizens do their best to follow the law and trained law enforcement officers do their best to enforce it. This new law throws the rules out the window and creates a slippery slope by giving untrained, private citizens the ability to win $10,000 by turning in their neighbors based on a hunch. We do not need civilians taking the law into their own hands. 62%
