Below are two descriptions of how the economy works. Please read each of them, and answer the question that follows.

[MIDDLE CLASS GROWTH] A strong middle class drives American economic growth. We need to focus our economic policies on making sure the middle class succeeds, which means improving incomes, ensuring access to affordable education, and reducing middle class taxes, all while making the wealthy pay their fair share.

[JOBS-FIRST GROWTH] Job creation drives economic growth. We need to focus our economic policies on making sure the people who create jobs can succeed, which means cutting taxes on businesses and entrepreneurs while reducing regulations standing in the way of building strong companies with good-paying jobs.

Q33. Which of these two arguments do you agree with more?
